

Arizona State University's School of Sustainability is the first of its kind: a comprehensive degree-granting program with a trans-disciplinary focus on finding real-world solutions to environmental, economic, and social challenges. Established in spring 2007 and enrolling undergraduates since fall 2008, the School is part of the Global Institute of Sustainability (<http://sustainability.asu.edu>).

The School of Sustainability undergraduate and graduate degree programs (bachelor's, master's, doctoral degrees in sustainability or business, engineering or law degrees with a concentration in sustainability) address the most critical challenges of our time, and the demand for graduates is strong. The School's course of study emphasizes experiential learning, research with faculty, corporate and K-12 work, community service, and leadership development.

The knowledge and solutions that are created today will shape our quality of life as well as future generations - we have an opportunity and an obligation to make our world more sustainable.

Excellence in Sustainability Scholarship Fund

In May 2011, the U.S. Green Building Council®-Arizona Chapter, in collaboration with Arizona State University, established the Excellence in Sustainability Scholarship for students in the School of Sustainability and the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law program in Law and Sustainability. This scholarship honors the victims and survivors of the Rep. Gabrielle Giffords' "Congress On Your Corner" event on January 8, 2011.

The scholarship is designed to encourage young talent to consider career opportunities with industries focused on sustainability practices. Recipients will be full-time undergraduate or graduate students, minimum 3.0 GPA, and participate in research experiences focused on solutions to sustainability problems.

As an industry partner we invite you to consider a gift to this scholarship fund through a contribution of $5,000, $2,500, $1,000, or $500 to the Arizona State University Foundation, ESS # 40005101, a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization that supports ASU and its units. The ASU Foundation tax ID number is 86-6051042. All contributions will be deposited to the Excellence in Sustainability Scholarship endowment account held and invested by the ASU Foundation. Gifts may be one-time or multi-year and indicated on the attached Letter of Intent.
